

Electing Not to Vote

Contrary to what Chuck Colson has written, voting is not a sacred duty. There are limits to the claims that the state can make on an individual's conscience, and it may be for some a sacred duty to not vote.

Read the editorial here