

The Kindness of Strangers

Originally published in the U.S. (CrossPoint) and the U.K. (Third Way) on the first anniversary of 9/11, this is a moving essay of my days as a guest of Canada, which began the morning of 9/11, when I was flying from London to Atlanta and ended up in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Read the essay here